PRIME PROGRAM

Process Reengineering for Increased Manufacturing Efficiency

FREE Lean Kaizen Events

Take a systematic approach to evaluating, identifying, and removing inefficiency and waste in your operations

This program is an innovative solution offered by the Connecticut Energy Efficiency Fund and administered by Eversource Energy (“Eversource”) and United Illuminating Company (UI) to help businesses reduce their energy consumption. PRIME teaches manufacturers how to implement Lean Manufacturing techniques by setting up and participating in Lean events conducted at their business. Results of these events include streamlined product flows, elimination or reductions in waste, improved production efficiency and minimized environmental impact. Participating businesses will become more efficient and reduce electricity consumption per unit produced.

How Does the Program Work?

- ◆ Industrial customers of Eversource and UI with a SIC code 2000 through 3999 are eligible.
- ◆ Eversource and UI has contracted with Daniel Penn Associates, LLC (DPA) to provide this service. Call DPA at 860-232.8577 or email info@danielpenn.com for more information.
- ◆ Interested companies may schedule a no-cost survey/tour with Daniel Penn Associates. We will review your organization’s manufacturing processes and determine if there are opportunities to save energy and optimize your processes.
- ◆ If the survey reveals opportunities that will lead to verifiable energy-use reductions, your company will be eligible for funding through the PRIME program. The extent of the funding available to offset the cost of the lean manufacturing training is determined by the estimated kilowatt-hour savings.
 - ✓ 2 free Kaizen events funded through the PRIME program
 - ✓ 2 additional Kaizen events reimbursed at 50% of cost

The financial incentives will help get you on the right track.
The energy-saving benefits will continue on, year after year.
